Canadian Politics in the time of COVID-19

The COVID-19 outbreak has set off a series of changes in the Canadian political landscape. Federally and provincially, governments are receiving high marks for their handling of the crisis, and this translates to changes for electoral politics going forward.

Today, INNOVATIVE is releasing results from our May 2020 Canada This Month survey. This online survey was in field from May 1st to May 5th with a weighted sample size of 1,500 and oversamples in every province. Detailed methodology is provided in the appendix.

This report covers key results on how Canadians are rating their government's handling of COVID-19 and the impacts that is having for government satisfaction and vote choice.

Most governments are receiving high marks for their handling of COVID-19

Vote is on the move as well

Innovative reports on vote intention in two ways.

When we ask people who they would vote for if an election were held today, and who they lean towards if they are unsure, we call those results Combined vote. This accounts for the views of everyone in the population including decided voters, undecided voters, and non-voters.

When we look at the results among only decided voters, we call that Decided vote. These results most tell us what the election results would be like if the survey results matched the election exactly.

Federal Decided Vote Tracking: Liberals (41%) hold wide lead over CPCs (28%) among decided voters

If a federal election were held today, which party would you vote for? In that case, which party do you lean toward slightly? [DECIDED]

[only decided voters; n=1287]

Decided Vote by Party ID: Strong majorities of Liberal (91%), CPC (81%), and NDP (78%) identifiers would vote for their party

		Federal Party Identification
		Conservative	Liberal	NDP	Other	Unaligned

Alberta Decided Vote Tracking: UCP and NDP decided vote are steady since last month's tracking

If a provincial election were held today, which party would you vote for? In that case, which party do you lean toward slightly? [DECIDED]

[only decided voters; n=264]

Ontario Decided Vote Tracking: Small gain (34%) for PCs on decided vote, now within five points of Liberals (39%)

If a provincial election were held today, which party would you vote for? In that case, which party do you lean toward slightly? [DECIDED]

[only decided voters; n=521]

Quebec Decided Vote Tracking: The CAQ (35%) holds a directional lead over the Quebec Liberal party (32%)

If a provincial election were held today, which party would you vote for? In that case, which party do you lean toward slightly? [DECIDED]

[only decided voters; n=257]

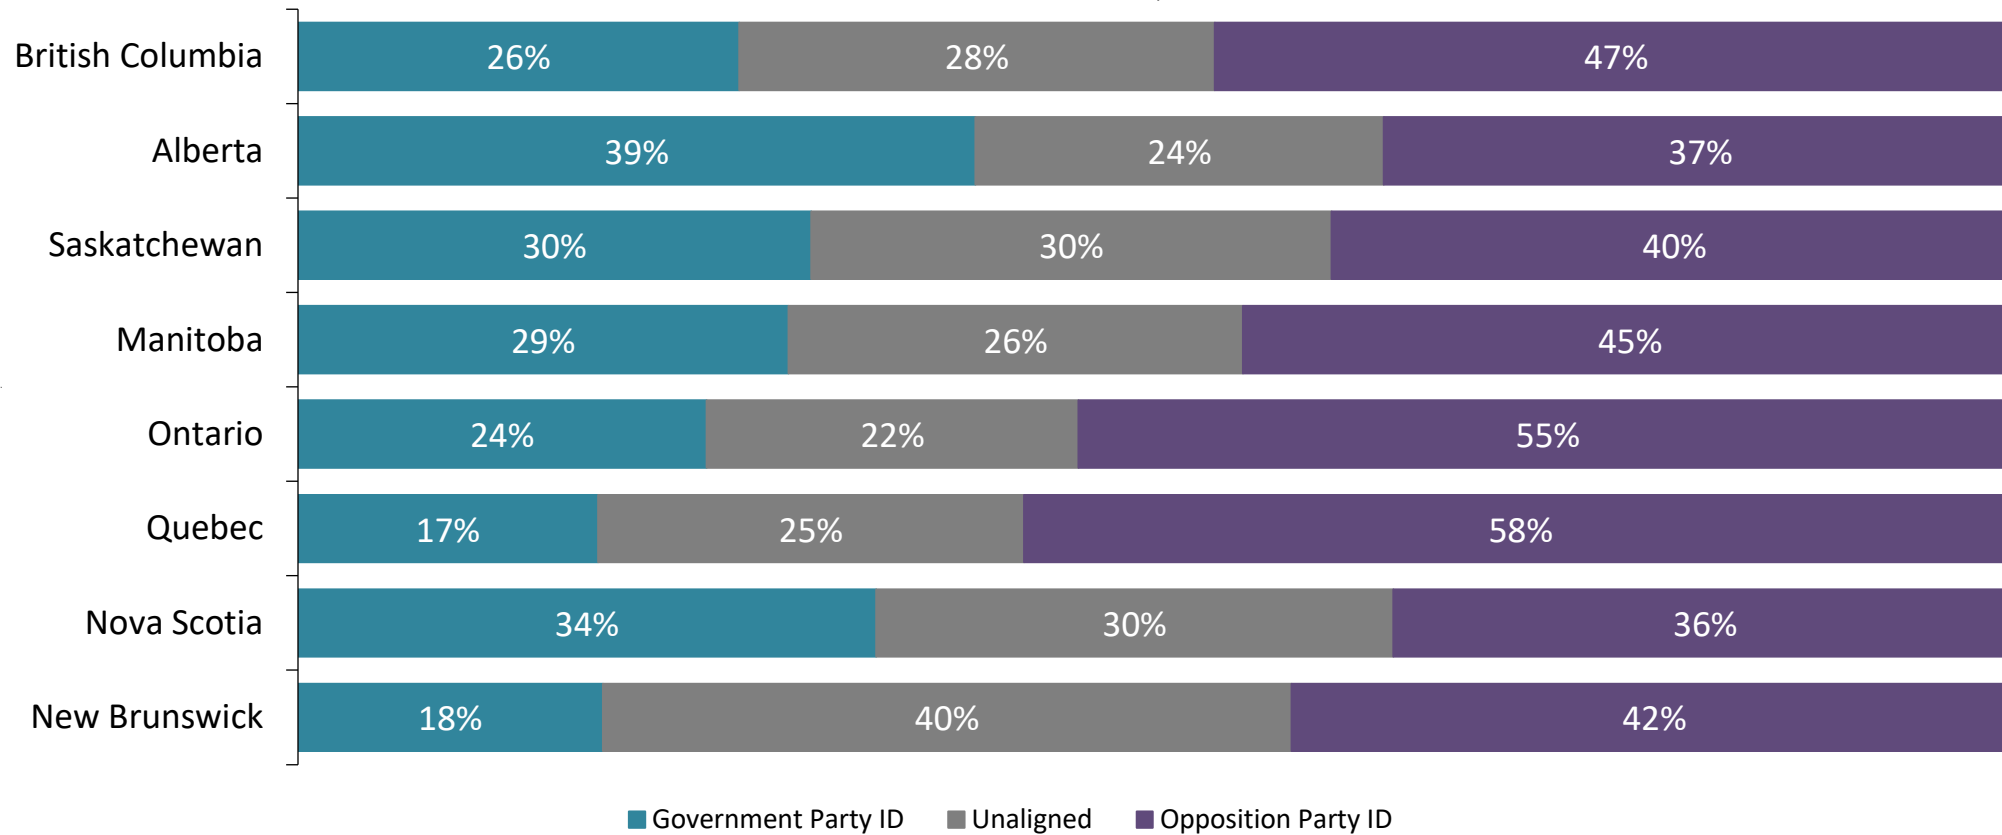

Party ID by Province: Alberta has the largest pool of voters who identify³¹ with the government party (UCP), Quebec and NB have the fewest

Percentage of each party ID type by province. Voters are broken down by whether they identify with the government party, no party, or an opposition party

[asked of all respondents; n=1500]

Overall breakdown

For example, in B.C. 26% identify with the B.C. NDP, 28% have no party ID, and 47% identify with another party.

Note: Current data: May 2020

Results for Newfoundland & Labrador and PEI not shown due to insufficient sample size.

Support for Quebec's CAQ government is bolstered by opposition defectors more than any other provincial government

Voters are broken out in the table by whether they identify with the governing party, no party, or an opposition party. For each province we show the % who intend to vote for the governing party within each group.

		Party ID Categories
Percentage voting for government party		Government Party ID	Unaligned	Opposition Party ID
	British Columbia	88%	30%	12%
	Alberta	87%	16%	4%
	Saskatchewan	92%	25%	10%
	Manitoba	82%	12%	7%
	Ontario	91%	16%	8%
	Quebec	82%	17%	20%
	Nova Scotia	81%	27%	11%
	New Brunswick	81%	31%	8%

For example, 20% of Quebecers who identify with an opposition party still intend to vote CAQ. Nearly double any other province.

Note: Current data: May 2020

Results for Newfoundland & Labrador and PEI not shown due to insufficient sample size.

Provincial Coalitions by Region: the UCP's support is made up almost entirely of UCP partisan's (86% of their coalition)

Percentage of each party ID type among voters for the incumbent party. This measure shows the extent to which each incumbent's coalition is based on each type of voter.

[results among incumbent party voters in each province; n=470]

Breakdown of the governing party's coalition

For example, in Alberta, 86% of UCP support comes from UCP partisans, higher than any other provincial government.

Note: Current data: May 2020

Results for Newfoundland & Labrador and PEI not shown due to insufficient sample size.

Methodology

Survey Methodology

These are the results of an online survey conducted between May 1st and May 5th, 2020.

Method: This online survey was conducted using INNOVATIVE's Canada 20/20 national research panel with additional respondents from Lucid, a leading provider of online sample. Each survey is administered to a series of randomly selected samples from the panel and weighted to ensure that the overall sample's composition reflects that of the actual Canadian population according to Census data to provide results that are intended to approximate a probability sample.

Sample Size: n=2,699 Canadian citizens, 18 years or older. The results are weighted to n=1,500 based on Census data from Statistics Canada.

Field Dates: May 1st and May 5th, 2020.

Weighting: Results for Canada are weighted by age, gender, and region to ensure that the overall sample's composition reflects that of the actual population according to Census data; in order to provide results that are intended to approximate a probability sample. Weighted and unweighted frequencies are reported in the table.

Margin of Error: This is a representative sample. However, since the online survey was not a random probability based sample, a margin of error cannot be calculated. Statements about margins of sampling error or population estimates do not apply to most online panels.

Note: Graphs may not always total 100% due to rounding values rather than any error in data. Sums are added before rounding numbers.
