

Ontario 2022 Seats to watch: Scorecard

Incumbent	Region	Riding	Watch for...	What it means	Track the outcome
	905	Vaughan—Woodbridge	Liberal-PC Swings	Liberal leader Steven Del Duca is trying to win back his old seat in Vaughan—Woodbridge. The Liberals will need to reclaim some of these seats to form the Official Opposition.
	905	Mississauga—Streetsville
	905	Markham—Stouffville
	905	Scarborough North
	South/Central	Peterborough—Kawartha
	South/Central	Northumberland—Peterborough South
	416	Etobicoke Centre
	416	Toronto—St. Paul's	Liberal-NDP Swings	The NDP won several traditional Liberal strongholds in 2018. They will need to hold on to most of them to win the battle for Official Opposition.
	416	University—Rosedale
	416	Spadina—Fort York
	416	Toronto Centre
	East/North	Kingston and the Islands
	East/North	Thunder Bay—Atikokan
	South/Central	Kitchener Centre
	South/Central	London North Centre
	South/Central	Essex	PC Targets from NDP	The PCs are well positioned to steal most, if not all, of these seats from the NDP.
	905	Brampton Centre
	905	Brampton East
	905	Brampton North
	905	Oshawa
	905	Humber River—Black Creek	Three-Way Races	A handful of seats that are likely to feature tight races between the three major parties.
	South/Central	York South—Weston
	South/Central	Kitchener South—Hespeler
	South/Central	Kitchener—Conestoga
	South/Central	Chatham-Kent—Leamington	Wild Card Seats	The Liberals lost candidates after the candidate deadline in all three of these ridings.
	East/North	Sault Ste. Marie
	East/North	Parry Sound—Muskoka			